

Les Gibson

Comedy Impressionist Les Gibson is often called 'The Man Of A Thousand Voices' because of the accuracy and sheer number of characters that he can impersonate. As an After Dinner Speaker or corporate comedian and entertainer, just close your eyes and you would think you were in the room with the real person. Les is an unbelievable sports speaker and sports impersonator with the likes of Beckham, Shearer, Keegan, Hansen, Fabio Capello, and Sir Alex Ferguson to name but a few and together with a multitude of soap characters including Corrie stars such as Kevin Webster, Roy & Hayley. Television favourites Gordon Ramsay, Ant & Dec Louis Walsh, Jedward, Lord Sugar and Sky One's hard man Ross Kemp, all tied together with link gags and observations ensures that it all adds up to a hilarious night of comedy. Because of his voice accuracy Les is also in great demand as a voice over artist.

So if you are looking for an after dinner speaker, corporate comedian, or voice over artist then look no further as you have just found the best in the business!

Leslie Gibson is a quite superb comedy impressionist from Liverpool. Surely deserving of some television exposure, Gibson works the after-dinner circuit and probably hasn't entertained in many student union bars or at the Edinburgh fringe, where most of the young TV gurus are said to hang out these days. Topical impressions, from soap-land to Dragon's Den, were all impressive and spiced with originality. What a shame that, according to many in mainstream light entertainment at least, the talent scouts from telly-land don't seem to know quite where to look for truly original young talent. Leslie Gibson really is a little bit special.

The Stage Review, 2011

"I could listen to it all night. You are a real threat in this competition."

Michael McIntyre, Judge, Britain's Got Talent